

The heatmap displays a grid of values. The color intensity represents the magnitude of the values, with a gradient from dark blue (low) to light blue/white (high). The distribution shows a clear trend where values increase from the top-right towards the bottom-left.

